OCCUPATIONAL MEDICINE REGISTRARS' CONFERENCE 2015

The Faculty is delighted to be holding its inaugural Registrars' Conference in March 2015, a two-day event to explore educational and career opportunities for trainee occupational physicians. Taking place at Pembroke College in Oxford, the conference will feature a comprehensive programme of talks on topics of interest to the Faculty's trainees, covering areas including fitness for work, occupational health around the globe, career options following the MFOM, and the challenges facing this generation of occupational physicians. An eminent roster of occupational physicians will be speaking on their areas of expertise, and a six-strong panel will be participating in a roundtable question and answer session. The first day of the conference will include ample opportunity for the registrars to interact and socialise, with a cash bar in the evening and a formal dinner for trainees and speakers. All attendees have the option to stay overnight in the College's modern ensuite B&B accommodation.

We are immensely grateful to our speakers who have given freely of their time, in some cases flying from overseas at their own expense. The Faculty has taken every measure to make the conference as cost effective as possible for our trainees, and has made a financial contribution to the running of the event. We have also received generous sponsorship from Corporate Health, the occupational health charity, to help subsidise the booking fee. The conference will provide an excellent educational opportunity to learn more about a range of occupational health topics relevant to contemporary practice, along with a chance to connect with colleagues in the historic setting of Oxford University.
